Special Programs for Special Needs Groups

While we welcome and encourage persons with special needs to select and participate in any of our listed programming, we recognize that some groups may prefer or benefit from customized programming. Some suggested programs that we have found especially successful are listed below.

Animal Friends: Teaching gentle touching of the animals coupled with sensory, movement and language/ music experiences.

Animal Coverings: Discovering the visible and touchable differences between mammals, birds, reptiles, and invertebrates.

Animal Adaptations: Discovering some ways animals are specially made to suit their habitats.

Tips for Planning Programs for Special Needs Populations:

- Tell us in advance, the general functioning level of your group as well as your goals for the program.
- Inform us of any special adaptations your group may require or may be bringing (i.e. voice amplification, tactile needs or tactile defensiveness, special seating requirements, assistive devices.)
- Limit your group size to allow for the additional space that wheelchairs may require and also to suit the attention spans and patience level of your group members. Feel free to give us guidance in the instructional methods that are best suited for your group.

New PECS Books for Autistic or Non-Verbal Students -

Help your students play a role in the decision making, allow them to share their needs and communicate more effectively during your zoo visit by borrowing one or more of the PECS books from your Erie Zoo Gift Shop. All that is required is a valid ID for the responsible adult, and your promise to return it before you leave the zoo for the day. Fifteen books are available so that a class can be accommodated. Please help us spread the word about this wonderful resource to your families for their personal visits to their Erie Zoo.
